ABOUT ME

I'm a British blogger living the life I actively choose for myself. I live in Andalucía, Spain and prior to this I was in Mérida, Mexico for 6 yrs.

I adore exploring, learning about where I live and travel through literature, chatting to people, trying local delicacies and listening to the trees. Previously, I worked for INGOs in Africa and the fSU. I speak fluent Spanish and have written two popular books about Yucatán, Mexico.

ABOUT MEXICO CASSIE GOES INTERNATIONAL

Focusing on destinations in Spain and Mexico, my blog offers followers honest and in-depth overviews of well-known tourists spots as well as the places the locals love to visit and would prefer you didn't know! I often travel with my kids so I also write extremely honest articles about exploring with children.
